

MEDICAL MISSION SISTERS

Over 95 Years of Healing Presence

Summer 2023

Medical Mission Sisters are dedicated missionaries; they are fierce pioneers who have spent their lives "getting the job done."

They are also contemplative and reflective: poets, artists, crafters, quilters and quilters, singers and songwriters. For this year's appeal for Retired Sisters, we thought our donors would enjoy some of the poetry written by Medical Mission Sisters. In fact, the very week we were planning the appeal, Sister Kathryn Gates walked into the office carrying a brightly colored handmade journal containing poems she has written. She referred to a request made by us several months ago, asking Sisters for poetry they would be willing to share. She had just come across the journal after misplacing it and was offering it now to us.

We received her gift with delight, gratitude, and a smile in recognition of Divine timing. We hope you enjoy Sr. Kathryn's expressions of authenticity and vulnerability - may they lead you into a softer place within yourself.

I'd Like to Ask Moses

*Well, Moses, how was it,
After you saw the burning bush?
Were you changed?
Did you look at everything differently,
Expecting every bush,
Every flower,
Every tree
To burst into flames
And reveal God's presence?*

*I'd like to think I would be different
After encountering God's presence
In a flaming bush;
Looking eagerly
And with new eyes
At every bush,
Every flower,
Every tree,
Every person;
Waiting, watching
Anticipating God's Word revealed.*

Why am I waiting for a flaming bush?

Sr. Kathryn Gates

Sisters Martina Schaefer and Kathryn Gates enjoy a humorous moment together. They are two of the seven Sisters who are celebrating a Jubilee in August 2023!

2023 Jubilarians
Anniversary of First Vows

70 Years: Sr. Kathryn Gates
Sr. Jeanette McDermott
Sr. Martina Schaefer
Sr. Margaret Ann Schmid

60 Years: Sr. Mag Moran
Sr. Frankie Vaughan

50 Years: Sr. Sue Sopczynski

These seven Sisters served in Africa, Europe, India, Latin America and North America. They are trained in pharmaceutical medicine, sociology, behavioral health, nursing, nurse-midwifing, nutrition, and theology.

They are also poets, artists, crafters and writers.

The health of our older Sisters spans a spectrum of being able-bodied and independent, to requiring full-time support and attention in a skilled nursing care unit. The costs of providing appropriate medical care for all our Sisters continues to increase.

Will you help us meet these costs so our Sisters, who have given so much to the world, can be assured of proper care that meets their needs? Anything you can give will be used to support our Sisters!

Ways to Support Us!

Online: www.medicalmissionsisters.org

Mail: Fill out the remittance envelope provided and return with your gift (using your own postage stamp, helps reduce cost to Medical Mission Sisters).

Sustaining Gifts: You choose how much your bank automatically deducts from your account each month. Call Sherri Gannon at 215.742.6100, ext. 163 if you would like to make a credit card payment by phone or if you have any questions about giving. All information provided to Medical Mission Sisters is completely secure, and is never shared. If you have friends or family who might be interested in being added to our mailing list, please let us know! Contact Sherri Gannon by phone or at sgannon@medicalmissionsisters.org with their information. Thank you!

Morning Praise

*Even before daybreak I hear their morning praise.
A robin begins with a throaty call to prayer.
Sparrows in unison chirp their "Amens."*

*A mockingbird intones several versions of the antiphon,
And choirs of starlings and blackbirds take up the psalmody.*

*The blue jay's shrill prayer sounds more like a sermon,
And the "caw caw" of the crows denotes their assent.*

*A woodpecker's staccato response
Is answered by harsh twitters from the chickadee.*

*The cardinal chants a magnificent gloria,
song sparrows and wrens trill alleluias.*

*Mourning doves "coo" their intercessions
While an oriole closes with a mighty "Amen."*

*I marvel at this heavenly choir praising our God
While I, ungrateful creature, am still abed.
